Hay in the Santa Cruz valley is hay. It is precious enough to justify the use of canvas to protect it in the stacks. Saddle Canning is now making canvas covering for huge stacks of alfalfa for Dairyman Duffy. Alfalfa is very liable to mildew and sour after being damped.

A boy named Roca, brother-in-law of Ben Heney, is suffering from symptoms which puzzle the doctors. He recently ate very heartily of cheese; almost immediately afterward he was taken alarmingly ill, turning black in the face and suffering considerably.

The 4th of July will probably have some celebration after all. A few days ago a challenge was sent to the Phoenix club for a series of three games in this city, for the great day of independence. Word has been received accepting the challenge. The Phoenix papers say that their clubs are doing good practice. They will find a strong team when they get to Tucson. A subscription list will be made soon to bring the visitors here.

A test case will be made by some of the restaurants of this city, which have been selling wine with meals. The county has demanded a payment for license of $30 a quarter, as required by law, and has been refused. A test case will be made against J. Soldini in a few days. As the restaurants in question pay an internal revenue tax, and do not deny selling bottles of liquor with meals, their defense is not plain.

There will be excursion rates on account of independence day and a large crowd is expected to come over from Phoenix. The committee will be appointed to circulate a subscription list to defray expenses and it is hoped that the citizens will subscribe liberally.

From the big Canon canal enterprise under way by Messrs. Maish and Driscoll, reports come that a map of the work has just been taken. Thus far the work has been only to the water level, for a mile and a quarter, for a width of from sixty to one hundred feet. Now the teams have been harnessed back to the outlet of the proposed canal, and are beginning work below the water level, about ten feet below the level of the late work. There is water all along the line. With water in the canal, plenty is assured when the irrigation of the thousands of acres of bright green alfalfa is under way.

The surveyor will occupy the room held by the court reporter. The court reporter will be obliged to look up other quarters. The court house offices are not well arranged. When it was erected it was on the theory that a probate court room should balance the district court room on the other side. In real practice, however, it was found that the number of cases coming before the court were not many. The clerk of the district court's quarters being crowded an exchange was effected, whereby the probate court room was exchanged for the clerk's room. The district attorney will recommend that the present clerk's office be divided when the county is

For Bronchitis

"I never realized the good of a medicine until I have in the last few months, during which time I have suffered intensely from pneumonia, followed by bronchitis. After trying various remedies without benefit, I began the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and the effect has been marvelous, a single dose restoring me to my usual health, and securing good night's rest."—T. A. Higginbottom, Geo. Store, Long Mountain, Va.

La Grippe

"Last Spring I was taken down with it, and at times I was completely prostrated, and so difficult was my breathing that my breath seemed as if confined in an iron cage. I procured a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and so soon as I began taking it than relief followed. I could not believe that the effect would be so rapid."—W. H. Williams, Cook City, S. Dak.

Lung Trouble

"For more than twenty-five years, I was a sufferer from lung trouble, attended with coughing, severe at times as to cause hemorrhage, the paroxysms frequently lasting three or four hours. I was induced to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and after taking four bottles, was thoroughly cured. I can confidently recommend this medicine."—Franz Hoffmann, Clay Center, Kans.

The water developments for the Antelope mine are most satisfactory. The flow at the new well, sunk on the "no water" claim, is about 1000 gallons a day, and beyond hand power. A steam pump and boiler were put out tonight to the mine. The well is now down forty-five feet. The water is taken by the owners of the Antelope mine.

Bishop Burgale has been making an extensive tour in Mexico, that will be of interest in Tucson. It was for the purpose of raising money toward a fine and roomy cathedral in this city, the present one being badly damaged by fire. The church already owns a very fine site, the old commissary square between Convent street and Stone avenue. The bishop will be home tomorrow night, coming in the 10 o'clock train. He will be welcomed by the Philharmonic band and numerous parishioners.

A year or two ago a clever ruse of the Chinese in Mexico, wanting to return to China, was to "smuggle" themselves across the border, get caught and confined in the line of the new railroad. The scheme ran against a snag when Charlie Ah See was hauled before Commissioner Cumming and given a year at Yuma before making his trip. His year will expire on the 24th. The marshal will then take him to the collector of the port at San Francisco, who will see that he is properly deported.

In Graham county, says I. E. Solomon, in from there, crops are being cut and are first rate. Barley, wheat, thirty-five bushels to the acre. Five crops of alfalfa a year are being cut, a ton and half to the acre. Ready market at good prices is found for the crops, which the various military companies purchase. Business is prosperous in Graham county. There are four candidates for the clerkship of the district court—Dr. Huffer, Mr. Nicholson and Henry Dawson, of S. J. Solomon, and Mr. Adam of Tucson.

Water scarcity in southern Pinal county is unprecedented. R. R. Richardson has been obliged to move from the site of old Camp Crittenden, where for years and years half a dozen troops were supported, as he could not there obtain water enough for family purposes. At both Bowie post and Huachuca water is very low. On the contrary north of the line of the late rain, along the Gila, water is plenty.

Two cannon ball mills are now at the Southern Pacific freight house at J. E. Etteck, manufacturer's agent. One of them will be set up at Manning and Ours' mill at Arivaca. The other, it is understood, will be set up at the new mill near Tucson. The great balls weigh 200 pounds each and are twelve inches through. A railroad man informed some curious Mexicans that they were for the international boundary survey cannon.

A DIPLOMATIC TANGLE.

King Maelieton Appeals to the Tripartite Alliance.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Secretary Gresham has another diplomatic tangle on his hands. This time it is the Samoan islands. He has received advice that war is imminent and that the rebellion has broken out against the existing government of King Maelieton. Comparative quiet prevailed on the islands so long as the deposed monarch Maelieton was kept out of his kingdom. It appears, however, that he has returned to Samoa, and the purpose of regaining his throne. All his adherents and many new recruits have rallied under his standard and have begun operations against the power. That his following is strong and menacing is evidenced by the fact that the reigning King, Maelieton, has appealed to the representatives of the tripartite alliance to protect him in his contention with the rebels. The United States, Great Britain and Germany, and assist him in driving the usurper, Maelieton, from his territory.

The situation has reached a critical stage and the president and Secretary Gresham are in frequent conference as to the policy of this government in the matter. The United States is pledged to assist in the restoration of the island, but at present it is hardly in a position to do very much in that direction. Germany is the only member of the alliance represented at the island by a war ship, but for the cooperation of the representatives and citizens of the other governments that vessel will be sufficient to afford ample protection to foreign interests on the island, even if it is not capable of entirely suppressing the rebellion.

HILL NOT COMING.

Afraid He Will Hurt His Presidential Chances.

Has Received Numerous Requests for Dates on Which to be Entertained.

NEW YORK, June 17.—A close friend of Senator David B. Hill told a reporter that the senator has abandoned his intention to go west as chairman of the sub-committee on immigration to inquire into the exclusion act by the Chinese six companies, also as a member of the committee on territories, to inquire into the advisability of admitting New Mexico, Arizona and Utah to statehood.

Explaining the senator's reason for not going west, he said: "The senator has read letters and telegrams from all over the west begging him to name dates on which he can be the guest at dinners, receptions and other entertainments. These have been so numerous that he concluded his acceptance would favor of 'swinging round the circle.'"

People would say he was hunting for a president in nomination and proposed to show himself off. Rather than place himself in that attitude the senator decided not to go.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The secretary of war has received a report from the military commission, setting forth at length the wanton destruction of important landmarks on the field by the operation of an electric railway company. A large number of cowboys have come into the valley within the past few days from the surrounding districts, and have become excited to the sheep men that they must move out. Accordingly they are preparing to go, and if they are expelled, they will doubtless be no trouble. The least jar, however, would be like blowing in the candle house. In the suits which the county commissioners have brought to collect grazing taxes the sheep men declare they will contest the cases.

BERLIN, June 17.—Prince Bismarck has, in an interview, come out in favor of an increase of the defensive strength of the empire, but not on the lines laid down by the government in the army bill. Conversing today with Professor Ratzke, who was visiting the chancellor at Friedrichsberg, Prince Bismarck declared that an increase of the army was necessary. He differed with the government, however, as to how the increase should be made. He did not approve of adding to the infantry or cavalry strength of the army but maintained that the increase should be made to the artillery forces, which he declared would decide the battles of the future. He said that the increase in expense that would follow the increase of the army Prince Bismarck saw that Germany was fully able to bear the added cost that would be entailed by adding to her military strength.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The shipment of currency to the west and south continued today and excited much comment. When the discrepancy was discovered in the accounts of the different banks it was found upon examination that the checks had been changed respectively from $55 and $38. The work was executed with great skill, the peculiarity being that so accurately were the names of the different cashiers forged that they deceived failed to detect the imitations.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 16.—The Borden trial was resumed this morning. So far the evidence is thought to be in favor of the defendant.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 15.—The tenth day of the Borden trial opened with a big crowd. After recess Mr. Jennings opened the case for the defense. He said they would show the previous character of the prisoner, and the absence of any intent, purpose or opportunity to murder her parents.

The defense would also show that there were others about the house on the day of the murder, and that the people in the barn and all over it before it was examined.

During the opening the prisoner sat with her face in her handkerchief crying.

Martha Chagnon testified that about 11 o'clock on the night preceding the murders, she heard a noise like pounding on the Borden fence.

Charles Clifford and Uriah Kirby both swore to having seen a strange man near the Borden residence at the summer house.

Dr. Chace swore he saw a buggy standing in front of the Borden house at 11 o'clock on the morning of the murder, and it was a man whom he had never seen before or since.

Dr. Harder, the nurse he saw in the neighborhood a medium-sized young man, very pale and acting strangely.

Mrs. Hart testified to the same effect.

This contradicts Officer Medley's testimony.

After some other testimony the jury retired while the counsel argued the advisability of admitting the evidence of Joseph L. May, who had been in the room with blood near Steep Brook on August 10, who talked about the Borden murder.

The questions were reserved until morning and the case adjourned.

JACKSON, Cal., June 15.—An attempt was made to rob the stage on the way from Lone to Jackson, about 5 o'clock this evening, by a lone highwayman, at the foot of a narrow grade about four miles from here. The stage had four passengers, and one of whom were men, and one on the outside, Clint Radcliff, and Wells Fargo's guard, Michael Tovey, who sat on the seat by the driver.

The point selected for the crime was the identical spot where some five months ago the same guard, then walking ahead of the stage, found the way barred by a strand of barbed wire cut from alongside the road and stretched across the roadway.

On the present occasion the robber was concealed behind a meadow on the right side of the road.

He wore no mask, except that his face was blackened. The driver says no command to halt was given, but some of the passengers say they heard a call.

When opposite the place of concealment without the least intimation of the bloody work about to be consummated, the discharge of a weapon was heard and Tovey instantly fell forward on his seat dead.

Radcliff grasped him by one hand as he was falling into the roadway. The ball struck Tovey behind the right shoulder and is supposed to have pierced his heart.

Six horses were attached to the stage and the crack of the rifle frightened them into the gallop. The robber seeing that he was likely to be foiled in his attempt to capture the body, fired and again. This time the ball grazed Radcliff's back. The horse's still continued the run, and the highwayman now standing in full view in the road, fired twice again at the horses, wounding one each.

The stage was swept along by the impetus of the uninjured horses for the two or three hundred yards, when the driver halted and turned the injured animal into a field and came on, bringing the body of the murdered messenger to Jackson, reaching here about 7 o'clock.

HE DID NOT FOLLOW.

The robber made no effort to follow the stage to a halting place.

The double-barreled shotgun belonging to the messenger was kept on the horse and the fact probably deterred the assassin from following up his scheme. Besides this, the firing was heard by several farmers working in a box field nearby, and the noise running to ascertain the cause. The robber escaped into some thick brush on the south side of road, making toward Sunny Creek.

He disappeared as a short man, about five and one-half feet tall.

There was treasure on board the stage for both Amador City and Jackson.

It is remembered that when the wire was strung across the road on a previous occasion there was considerable coin on board bound for Amador City to pay off employees of the mines there.

The victim of the tragedy is a single man, between forty and fifty years of age. He has been a messenger for Wells Fargo for twenty years. He has been wounded three times before by road agents. He has been a messenger on the lone road for six years.

There is much excitement over the affair. Sheriff Gregory and a posse started at once in pursuit on hearing of the tragedy.
